Excerpt from Souvenir and Story of the Most Popular Summer Resort in the Northwest, Lake Minnetonka: An Outline of Its Natural Beauty and Manifold Attractions

None of the early explorers ever saw Lake Minnetonka. Their courses lay up the Mississippi and the Minnesota rivers, one east, the other west of that beautiful body of water. The Sioux Indians who, during a half century of fierce conflict with the Chippewas, had been driven from the shores of Lake Superior westward, made here their last stand. Before abandoning the forests to their enemies. Here in the big woods they fought, crimsoning the brooks and bays with their own and their enemies' blood, and here for a time they made a successful stand.
